

Sundry Debts

What we use your information for

We use personal information when collecting corporate sundry debts on behalf of council departments for goods and services provided, parking warrants and bus lane violations.

We require personal and financial information to facilitate the effective collection of debt.

What information we hold and use

The types of information we hold and process includes -

- names, addresses and contact information
- biographical and family information
- dates of birth and national insurance number
- financial information and bank account details
- employer and employment data
- health and welfare information
- appointees/representatives details

Legal basis for processing your personal data

Information is processed in the performance of a task carried out in the public interest and in the exercise of official authority vested in us. Special category data relating to health and welfare is processed only where necessary for reasons of substantial public interest on the basis of Union or Member State law or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims or whenever courts are acting in their judicial capacity.

Debt is raised under legislation applicable to the associated Council Department; recovery protocol is detailed within the Council's Corporate Debt policy.

How we collect information

Information is collected from -

- other departments
- the debtor and their appointees/representatives
- landlords
- professionals at other organisation's including -
 - solicitors
 - police
 - welfare advisory services
 - credit reference agencies

It is collected using -

- forms
- letters

- email
- telephone contact
- details held on computer systems

Automated decision making

We may make automated decisions to recover outstanding debt to the council. This means that your information will be shared with other external Government agencies, in order to recover outstanding monies.

Who we share the information with

We do not make your personal information available to companies for marketing purposes.

Information is shared with other council departments and external organisations where necessary for the recovery of the debt; it is shared where the law allows and in order to maintain accuracy, detect fraud and protect public funds, for example Debt Collection Agencies and Her Majesty's Court Services

Security and retention of your personal data

Personal data is stored within our secure computer network and offices that have controlled access. It is retained for as long as there is a business and legislative need for it, normally for the current year, plus 6 years following the end of debt.

What rights you have

You have -

- a 'Right of Access' to see the information we hold about you
- a 'Right to Rectification' where you believe information we hold about you is incorrect or incomplete
- a 'Right to Restrict' processing and a 'Right to object' to processing where certain circumstances apply

To exercise these rights you need to contact us as detailed below. For rectification, restriction or objection you need to provide the reasons for you request.

Your personal information is not processed for individual automated decision making, or used for profiling of individuals for marketing purposes.
